

EXHIBITS ARE MANY

Vast Wealth Represented in Tractor Displays Which Crowd Woodland

Perhaps an estimate of the wealth of material displayed at the National Tractor Show of the West in Verdugo Woodlands is a matter of more or less conjecture. But it is somewhere over a million dollars and maybe a couple of cool millions in this day of high prices are represented in the numerous exhibits.

There are more than forty different makes of tractors and from one to six models on display which make a total of around 200 throbbing giants of the field, puffing, chugging and pulling about, each showing its strength to the prospective buyer and otherwise proving itself worthy of attention.

It is, indeed, a great sight to see so much powerful machinery in motion—to imagine what engines of destruction and fear the fighting tanks, nothing more nor less than armored tractors of war, were to the battle of the Argonne. And now they take their place in pursuits of peace in the battle of the virgin western lands against the inroads of agricultural by such modern methods displayed.

To wander around the embowered coliseum, down by the babbling Verdugo brook, one's mind can see pictured there the product of practically every state in the union. For instance there is Birmingham or Pittsburgh steel from Tennessee or Michigan or Pennsylvania ores; there is Arizona copper; Minnesota wood; Ohio rubber; New York belting; Wisconsin bearings; Texas or California lubrication and the exhibits are framed in Washington or Oregon pine.

And then the exhibitors—what an expanse of country they represent; what fond memories must they bring to the retired farmer from Illinois or

Iowa, who, to keep abreast with the times, was out there today to get a first glimpse of the progress in agricultural machinery.

Everybody recognized the Ford Motor company's exhibit. It was just like a family friend with a display including a one-ton truck and late model Fordson tractor cut away so that its workings could be readily interviewed by the eye.

Then there was the John Deere Plow Company with its new No. 40 plow for wheel tractors and its No. 45 for the lighter machines and models of orchard plows and discs and harrows and its own Waterloo Boy tractor. Oh, you, cornbelt brotherhood, don't you remember those days when you used to ride behind Dobbin on a John Deere sulky plow? You bet you do.

There are many others, too, that the writer saw. Many invaders over the old names, and many old trademarks on new innovations. For instance:

The A. F. George Company of Los Angeles has the Yuba Ball tread tractors; Emerson-Brantingham implements; Rex building mixers and Lansing wheelbarrows.

The J. I. Case Plow Works, Racine, Wis., Wallis tractors, J. I. Case tractor plows, lists, tandem disc harrows, and disc plows.

The William L. Hughson Company, Los Angeles, is showing its complete line of Fordson implements, including plows, harrows, cultivators, seeders, silage cutters, etc.

The B. Hayman Company, Los Angeles, will show E. B. tractors, E. B. motor cultivators, the Emerson-

INVESTIGATION OF NEW YORK EXPLOSION

EDWIN FISHER, WHO WARNED FRIENDS OF EXPLOSION, IS NOW IN NEW YORK; REFUSES TO TALK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Edwin P. Fisher, who warned friends to keep out of Wall Street prior to the explosion last week, arrived here from Hamilton, Ontario, today, accompanied by detectives. No formal charge has been placed against Fisher. He agreed to come to New York to answer questions regarding where he had secured information of the disaster. He refused to talk this morning.

Fisher picked up two cigars from the floor of the Grand Central Station when he reached town today. They were taken away by officers, who suspected they might contain poison or notes. "They look like pretty good cigars," commented Fisher, with a smile.

Officials of the DuPont Powder Company are to be questioned by police today regarding reports that one of their powder wagons had been seen near Wall Street shortly before the explosion. It was understood the DuPont officials admitted their wagon had been in that vicinity but contained no explosives.

Alexander Brailovsky, Russian journalist, held over Sunday in connection with the investigation, was released by police today.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Twenty-two witnesses were summoned to appear at the grand jury investigation of the explosion today. The first men called were Wilbur Fuller, secretary of the trucking division of the DuPont Powder Company plant at Jersey City; Dunham Beldon, owner of the automobile that was destroyed in the blast, and four eye-witnesses.

POLISH-LITHUANIAN DISPUTE IS SETTLED

MARKS LEAGUE'S FIRST SUCCESS IN BLOCKING OF A THREATENED WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Dramatically grasping hands before the League of Nations councillors, Ignace Paderewski and A. Valdemar, Lithuanian representative, today accepted the league's findings in the Polish-Lithuanian boundary dispute, which had threatened war. Today's acceptance marks the league's first success in blocking a threatened war.

As the league's secretary completed reading the league's proposals, Valdemar rose from his seat to accept them for Lithuania. In a brief speech he complimented representatives of the countries present, and paid a tribute to the league as making a proper start in its first attempt at arbitration.

Bowing to Paderewski, Valdemar spoke in glowing terms of "his honorable adversary."

"You are no longer an adversary," Paderewski exclaimed. "Henceforth we are colleagues."

He extended his hand. Valdemar, apparently under great emotional stress, shook hands warmly.

The league's proposal, in settlement of the Polish-Lithuanian dispute, was that Lithuania provisionally accept the boundary line prescribed by supreme council in 1919, and will withdraw all troops to the western line during negotiations.

Poland agreed to respect Lithuanian territory during the Russo-Polish war if the Soviet will do likewise.

SINN FEIN TROOPS SURPRISED

GENERAL MACREADY MAKES FIRST MOVE IN EFFORT TO EXTINGUISH REPUBLICAN ARMY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DUBLIN, Ireland, Sept. 20.—General Macready's coup yesterday, which surprised a body of Sinn Fein troops at drill, killed one and captured forty, was regarded as the first step in a new campaign to smash the Irish Republican army. Macready is intending to take the initiative against the Sinn Fein, it was indicated.

The Republican army was at rifle and bomb drill in the mountains, fifteen miles from Dublin when surprised by a body of auxiliary troops.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney was reported packed in hot water bottles today in an effort to prolong his life. Eminent physicians and scientists, summoned by the government, said his life could be prolonged if the body heat is maintained. Sinn Fein leaders today said MacSwiney's strong spiritual faith and intense political convictions sustained him.

SPANISH WOMAN MURDERED

MRS. MARY DE LOPEZ SHOT AND KILLED BY ADMIRER WHO THEN SHOTS HIMSELF

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Mary DeLopez, 23, pretty Spanish woman, was shot and killed by Ortez Guillermo, early today, after she had refused to elope with him before the return of her husband to this city. Guillermo then fired a bullet into his own brain. He will die, according to hospital authorities.

The shooting took place after Guillermo and Mrs. Lopez had returned from an evening spent at Venice with friends. According to statements gathered by the police, Guillermo shot the woman in a fit of mad jealousy.

AHEAD OF TIME

BIG TRACTOR AND IMPLEMENT SHOW OPENS BEFORE HOUR SET

It was exactly five minutes of nine this morning when the first of a great throng attending the National Tractor Show here this week swung through the massive gates into Verdugo Woodlands where a vast array of tractors and everything auxiliary thereto are on display.

He was a rancher, who purchased the initial admission. He was stooped from the labor of the farm, gnarled knuckles from gripping a plow, yet his eyes shown with a light of expectancy—that desire to learn the modern methods, the labor saving ways, the latest in machinery.

He led the crowd which continued to increase in numbers until late in the afternoon. He paid over his admission, as did the hundreds of others, for the educational benefit to be derived. And so it will be all week with increasing impetus until the closing days will literally find the park jammed with ranchers, dealers, manufacturers, agents and demonstrators, and manufacturers themselves.

Crowd Ahead of Time

The management had set 9 o'clock as the opening hour. But the crowd came too quickly. Fences—the last of the arrangements to be completed—were hastily put up; the young lady ticket-seller who had just arrived at the park was rushed to the booth out front and the great event was under way.

Starting ahead of time—that fore-shadows success!

To describe the National Tractor Show of the West—the greatest event of its kind to which Glendale has been host—is more than a mere word picture.

Visualize as your scope of farm life permits, every known piece of machine from a tractor down to an engine bearing, from a mammoth threshing outfit down to the modest garden cultivator—and all the accessories thereto—that's what this great display comprises, everything.

Some of the tractors are cut down for inspection and others are operating, many in conjunction without machinery. As has been told before everything from the little "muley" for garden use to the massive elephantine caterpillar is there.

Other Machinery Displayed

Then there are motor trucks for farm use, and trailers, and engines, and sprays, and ditch diggers, and

BOOSTS GLENDALÉ

H. V. ADAMS, CHAUTAUQUA LECTURER, FINDS GLENDALÉ POPULAR IN EAST

One of the recent callers at the office of the Glendale Evening News was H. V. Adams, of 436 West California avenue. Mr. Adams is a Chautauqua and Lyceum lecturer and has just returned from a tour through Kentucky, Arkansas and Missouri. In an interview Mr. Adams said:

"I was in Kentucky at the time they were having the slight earthquakes in Los Angeles, and the editor of a central Kentucky paper told me that every year in Kentucky there was a great deal more damage resulting from thunder storms than we ever experienced from earthquakes out here. For instance, just this summer in the central part of Kentucky twenty-five people lost their lives by lightning. The storm damage in any of the central eastern states every year is greater than all the damage in 300 years from earthquakes in Southern California."

"Everywhere people are arranging to come out to Southern California, and others are making inquiries about it. Many informed me that they are making arrangements to come out here as soon as possible and make it their home."

"Although my journeys this year were almost altogether in democratic states, yet leading business and professional men in the towns and cities that I visited expressed themselves as feeling sure that we are due to experience a republican landslide this fall. They regretted it, because they are good democrats, but the logic of the situation makes them realize the inevitable."

"I saw growing in Kentucky enough tobacco, I thought, to last the world a thousand years. The crops are all in splendid condition throughout the central section. Farmers are reaping some of the largest harvests ever experienced. But, with all their prosperity, one always feels greatly relieved to get back to Southern California where there is freedom from storms and excessive heat."

When asked if Glendale was generally known throughout the country (Continued on Page 8)

WOODS ENHANCED

DECORATIVE SCHEME OR MARBLE WHITE AGAINST GREEN BACKGROUND BEAUTIFUL

Approximately $4000 has been spent in beautifying Verdugo Woodlands by the Tractor Show management and the individual exhibitors, with a result that the mountain canyon park is resplendent—a color picture of ornate white against the green and brown of leafy oaks, ferns and other growth natural to Selvas de Verdugo.

The white pillars of a massive entrance stand as challenging heralds of the great displays within. Two glistening marble-like fountains bubble forth the waters of the trickling stream which meanders through the canyon's depths. Potted flowers in snow-white urns mark of the auto park and other sections of the show.

Throughout the exhibits the same neat art work prevails. The Tractor Show management foresaw how a work of art could be created and obtained the services of papier mache art shop decorators of Los Angeles to work out a uniform decorative scheme.

While it has not been decided as yet to keep the show open evenings, tentative plans are being made for flood lights to play on the displays, which with the natural clouded moonlight effect of these September evenings in Southern California will make a most picturesque scene.

HUNTING TRIP

H. S. WEBB AND C. W. KENT ENJOY FOUR DAYS' OUTING IN WILDS

C. W. Kent and H. S. Webb spent four days last week on a hunting expedition in the San Bernardino mountain region. They left Glendale Tuesday driving Mr. Webb's Buick which further distinguished itself by its performance on this trip, and spent the night with Mr. Kent's sister near Hemet. They encountered very hot weather in that section and ran into a heavy rain storm. They found the hunting very good in the vicinity of Murieta Hot Springs where they remained for a few days. They returned by way of Escondido having had a thoroughly enjoyable outing.

AMERICAN LEGION

MEMBERS FROM VISITING POSTS PLEASED WITH RITUAL WORK. DELEGATE INSTRUCTED

The American Legion meeting in the Post hall last Friday evening was one of the best yet held. The full ritual work, including the initiation of three new candidates, was put on for the second time and was so well done as to greatly please the members of the local Post as well as about 20 visiting members from five other Posts of the 9th Congressional District, who had never seen the work put on before.

The delegate to the National convention at Cleveland, Ohio, James F. McBryde, was given his instructions, preparatory to his departure on Tuesday.

Reports were made of the condition of the ex-service men under treatment at Thornycroft. There were 14 of them, but two have died. Members of the Post go twice a week and sometimes oftener to see the boys, take them smokes, candy and reading matter and to take them out auto riding, a service which is greatly appreciated by the invalids.

New House on Myrtle

The contract was signed Friday evening for the building of a very complete four-room bungalow and a double garage on the corner of Myrtle street and Central avenue, facing Myrtle.

There will be large living room with built-in bookcases and a large seat across one end, a dining room with six-foot buffet and French doors on either side, a rolling bed with a dressing room opening off of dining room and wide French doors leading from dining room on to a terrace. The bedroom will have a seven-foot built-in dresser, a rolling bed and a large dressing room with built-in features.

The kitchen will have everything that could be wished for, such as breakfast nook with windows facing the street, ironing board and kitchen lockers of all kinds; screen porch will have two laundry trays, space arranged for ice box and electric washer, also a good-sized broom closet. H. O. Melone is the owner-to-be and W. S. May has the contract for the building complete. Harold D. Charlton, 114-A North Orange street, Glendale, is the designer and will superintend the construction. Total cost of improvements will be $4343.75.

GUY HALL PLEASED

GENERAL MANAGER OF TRACTOR SHOW GIVES HIS IMPRESSION ON OPENING

Guy H. Hall, who has engineered many a tractor show and tried something new when he ventured out "into the woods" with the big Western event which is engaging all Glendale's attention this week, was chief among those present at Verdugo Woodlands this morning, highly pleased with the way all obstacles had been surmounted by the opening day.

"People are coming in from all directions, all parts of the West, and many distant points in the United States for this show," he said. "It is wonderful the interest which has been created and the crowds will equal our highest expectations."

"This is a strictly business show and it appeals to those who can afford to come here and study the latest in farm machinery, especially tractors which are playing so large a part in the development of the West."

"We chose this unusual setting," he continued, "because we could not get a building or space large enough in the city for this mammoth enterprise. But I believe our choice will prove a happy one for here in this beauty spot of Southern California, there is no limit to the demonstrations and displays which for lack of space are omitted in the show proper, but for lack of space the rancher can visualize, out here in the open, exactly how the machinery he seeks will look on his own place."

"One must visit the displays to appreciate them," he concluded and hurried away to attend to the many business details which fall on his shoulders.

Franklin Home Robbed

When Blake Franklin and wife of 398 West Wilson avenue returned home Saturday night at 9 o'clock from a picnic they evidently scared away a gang of burglars who had systematically looted the place after draping bed clothing over all the windows to keep from being observed. All but the dining room and one bed room were ransacked and these undoubtedly would have been if the miscreants had had more time. A lady's gold Swiss watch, a solid gold wedding ring and pair of cuff buttons, as well as much other jewelry and some money were taken, as well as two suits of clothes and a pair of new shoes. The beds had been torn apart and drawers emptied in a search for money. The articles taken were worth many hundreds of dollars.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

SPEAKERS TELL OF WORK IN INDIA, AND EFFORTS TO BANISH CIGARETTS HERE

There was a W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. Lucius Richardson, 1856 South Brand Boulevard, yesterday, with a large attendance. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Meacham and Mrs. MacDonald of the First Methodist Episcopal church choir, accompanied by Mrs. H. W. Randall, the regular organist. There was a beautiful piano solo, also, by Mrs. Kuehne.

The principal address was made by Mrs. W. Wood, a medical missionary from Kalyan, Ind., where she has conducted a dispensary and hospital for the past seven years. She goes back to her work there in December. Mrs. Wood said she had been in the India mission field for twenty-three years and a member of the W. C. T. U. longer than that. She told of many sad things she met with in her work, one that 75 per cent of the babies of India were given opium to quiet them when they cried, thus grafting the habit on them. This practice is gradually being stamped out and is aided greatly by Lady Henry Somerset of England, who is to India what Frances E. Willard was to this country in the promotion of W. C. T. U. work.

The other speaker was Mrs. Henry Young of Long Beach, W. C. T. U. vice president for California. She told of the fight being made, chiefly under cover, by liquor men to amend the Volstead enforcement act thus nullifying the 18th amendment, and charged that a fund of $3,000,000,000 had been raised for this purpose. Many other significant statements were made by the speaker regarding the fight now being waged by the W. C. T. U. against the use of cigarettes and tobacco in other forms.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Ida Quinn

Ida Fearn, daughter of Dr. John and Mrs. Amelia Fearn, was born April 16, 1856 in New York City, and died in Glendale, September 13, 1920, aged sixty-four years, four months and three days. In childhood she attended public school in New York and Staten Island and as she grew older took an interest in spiritual things. She was converted to a saving faith in Christ at an early age and took an active part in the work of the church, particularly in the Sunday school.

In early womanhood she married Mr. Quinn, and from this union there sprang nine children, eight of whom are still living, one having died in infancy. Two sons and two daughters live in California, three of them in Glendale. One daughter, Mrs. Aff, resides in Los Angeles. Mrs. Quinn was bereft of her husband in 1905 after which she remained in the old home with her youngest daughter, Mrs. Ida King of Plainville, N. J. In 1905 she embraced the Seventh-day Adventist faith and was baptized at her home in New Jersey. Since then she has been a consistent and faithful member of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Late in July of the current year she came to California and had been in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Aff but three days when she had an acute attack of indigestion and succumbed to the effects of it.

Jobs for All

There will be a job for every man who wants to work next winter, is the confident assertion of the director of the employment service of the United States department of labor. More than that, he believes that the next few months will be the best in years of peace so far as ready employment is concerned.

Such prophesy is gratifying and will refute the calamity howlers who are always particularly active in seasons of presidential campaigns.

In the readjustments through which we are now passing it has been unavoidable that there should be certain disarrangements of industry. But with continuance of a pronounced world shortage of many materials and manufactured articles it is inconceivable that stagnation could be either general or prolonged.

Undoubtedly one of the most disturbing factors in the situation is the problem of the price level. Until uncertainty is largely removed, business men will avoid large commitments, and as long as they feel inclined to pronounced conservatism, resumption and expansion are certain to be somewhat retarded.

In discussing the commercial and industrial situation the man who dares to prophesy from day to day or from week to week flirts with discomfort. But the man who prophesies for the "long pull" will, if he is a booster for America, not go far wrong. What must be remembered is that the United States is becoming more and more the center of the world's dependence, that our prosperity is just beginning, and that the achievements of the future are certain to outlive those of the past.

The man who puts his faith in America for "the long pull" can endure passing fluctuations with equanimity and confidence. America has a golden future so much greater than opportunities which have confronted nations in the past as to be beyond comparison. Whether it shall be grasped depends on American business men—and upon every American.

Be an American—boost for America!

Sugar Profiteers

Considerable light has been let in on the methods of New England sugar refiners and the steps taken to enforce an arbitrary price for their commodity by an investigation which has been under way in Boston.

It was shown that wholesale grocers in order to get a supply were forced to sign an iron-bound contract to pay 22½ cents a pound for sugar. Did they show an inclination to refuse the terms, they were threatened with the situation of having no sugar with which to supply customers during the coming season. The market price based on supply and demand appears to have been wholly disregarded. The refiners had the sugar and were able to dictate terms.

As a result wholesalers are still bound to pay 22½ cents, though the retail price generally is below these figures. Notwithstanding the change in conditions the refiners insist on the "pound of flesh." It is not astonishing that those bound to pay 22½ cents should suffer some pangs of remorse when they face market conditions, though they do not escape entire culpability for the condition. Had the wholesalers defied the refiners and done without sugar, unless they could buy it at a fair price, they would thus have assisted in thwarting the robbery that was perpetrated on the people. Yielding, even though under compulsion, they in a measure became a party to the exorbitant charges.

Though the price has broken it appears that those who hold stocks of sugar are not without hope that they may be able to manipulate the supply so that it will be possible to boost prices again. It is stated an effort is being made to head off stocks of sugar on the way here from Java and divert them elsewhere so as not to add still further to the surplus here. Then the refiners will refuse to sell except on their own terms, thus creating another artificial scarcity that will enable holders to get whatever prices they ask.

It's a great game that is being practiced. Having had a taste of easy money the sugar people seem most reluctant to let go of a good thing, though present prices are about four times the pre-war price. But greed is boundless. It fattens on itself.

Somebody tell the Missourians that women now possess equal rights. A Kansas City policeman arrested a woman for taking a chew of tobacco.

When you take a slant at the new fall prices you discover that they have not fallen.

The teacher was giving the class a natural-history lecture on Australia. "There is one animal," she said, "none of you have mentioned. It does not stand up on its legs all the time. It does not walk like other animals, but takes funny little skips. What is it?"

And the class yelled with one voice, "Charlie Chaplin."—London Tit-Bits.

LENDALE

Romance has attended this fair section of the South since the long-ago, that happy, care-free era of California's history when the site of our now thriving city was a part of the big land grant given by the king of Spain to the Verdugo family, up to this day when many who are living in less-favored sections of the country are turning their eyes Glendaleward and planning and longing to make their homes in this garden spot, the city that has made the largest per cent of growth of any municipality in the land, with no industrial incentive, its great attraction being its right to the title, "City of Homes."

Believing that many of you who are our guests this week will consider becoming residents of Glendale we offer these few facts that we think will be of interest to you.

Glendale is especially favored as to location. Her charming setting in the foothills with the higher ranges of mountains rising above is often commented upon. Her proximity to Los Angeles, being distant only a half hour's ride by trolley is an advantage that is not to be overlooked. Two main boulevards lead from the larger city and another and shorter road is now being paved. Glendale's altitude of 600 feet; her clear air and delightful climate tempered by breezes from the Pacific that find access through the Ivanhoe Pass; her proximity to the beaches and mountains are all features that add to the delight of living here.

Glendale's municipal government is organized with special reference to the needs of a rapidly-growing city. There are branches to care for any problem that might arise in such a city, all under the care of a City Manager, acting under the direction of the Board of Trustees. There is a department of public utilities, a department for the improvement and maintenance of streets, a health department that is watchful of sanitary and health conditions, well-organized police and fire departments, and a forestry department devoted to the propagation of trees for parkway planting, and to the care of trees already growing in parkways.

Living costs in Southern California are lower than elsewhere in the United States according to those who come here from other sections. Glendale enjoys this natural advantage along with her sister cities and in addition she has the distinction of furnishing electricity and water at a lower rate than any other city in California. This is due to the fact that the municipality several years ago purchased these utilities and organized a department of public service which has been conducted in a way to give the people the best possible service at the lowest possible rate consistent with good business. The people have never been taxed for the purchase of these utilities, the department being managed in such a way that it has been able to pay off all indebtedness as it became due.

Glendale's growth has astonished even her own people. Twenty years ago Glendale was not an incorporated city and hence does not appear in the census figures of that year, but those who lived here then say the population could not have been more than a few hundred. In 1910 the census report gives Glendale a population of 2742 and in 1920, 13,536, an increase of 393 per cent. Making an estimate from the registration of voters we know that Glendale's population today is in the neighborhood of 20,000. From the water and light connections that are being made it has been determined that the population is increasing at the rate of 5000 a year and figuring on the basis of a population of 20,000 this means an increase of 25 per cent a year.

In July of this year Glendale was sixth among California cities in the value of building permits issued, the order being Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, Pasadena's lead over Glendale being less than $33,000. Glendale's figure was $302,970 giving her the proud record of doing more building in proportion to her population than any city in the United States. In August of this year Glendale's building permits totalled $515,078 and during the first fifteen days of September permits amounted to $260,785. The total building in Glendale since the close of the war or from January 1, 1919 to September 15, 1920, totals $2,680,633.

Glendale is known everywhere as a clean town, her broad paved streets being the marvel of all visitors. Brand Boulevard, a paved street 120 feet in width extends through the center of the city from the mountains to the city limits of Los Angeles, a distance of 2.9 miles. Being jealous of the reputation of the city, Glendale people very generally keep their premises in neat condition. When lot owners are non-resident or for any other reason are careless in this respect the city looks after cleaning the weeds from the property.

In educational progress our city is not backward. A fine high school, ten grade schools in various sections of the city, and a church school take care of the needs of the young, while two city libraries are well patronized. Glendale has one of the largest woman's clubs in the state and other clubs, lodges and fraternal organizations thrive here. Two splendid new hospital buildings are now in course of construction.

Glendale is a clean city, morally. It is essentially a church town, nearly all denominations being represented. There has always been a determined effort on the part of the people as a whole to exclude anything that would tend to lower the moral tone of the community.

We welcome you, visitors to the Tractor Show and invite you to become residents of Glendale. If that is impossible, at least come again.

CITY OF GLENDAL

Fashions in Brief

Knife plaiting is being accorded a great deal of favor.

Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big gay plaids.

Parasol materials are silk, net, lace and cretonne, as well as linen and fur.

Cretonne is being featured as an attractive trimming by some of the smart designers.

The fine dotted veil is the most popular just now and shows gray and brown as the newest colors.

The short sleeve, with long glove wrinkled so as to cover the hand only, is emphasized as an approved style.

The camisole skirt is the latest addition to a smart woman's wardrobe. It is a plaited model, hung from a loose-vested blouse which matches the skirt.

One of the newest and smartest trimming touches used on taffeta frocks consists of bandings of narrow straw braid in vividly contrasting color. It is not a stiff hat braid, but something very soft, and it is often applied in odd-shaped motifs as well as in straight band effect.

The plan of creation included a wise feature when it was made impossible for men to fool with the weather.

Cotton is quoted in New York a few cents higher per pound than wool—which may be the reason you get so much cotton in your all-wool suit.

A GERMAN DISAPPOINTMENT

The discouraging outlook for German trade is indicated in the announced failure of the Leipzig fair. For 850 years fairs have been held in that Saxon city. Buyers were drawn from far and near. In recent times the business done was regarded as an accurate barometer of German trade conditions. For the fair just held much was hoped as an indication of the revival of German trade after the war. While the exhibits were good and buyers were present from all parts of the world, few orders were booked. Americans present declined to buy for fear prejudice would prevent sale of the goods. Others, not deterred by the same reason, did not place orders because of the unsettled conditions the world over. It is stated that the Germans are greatly disappointed at the result and correspondingly despondent.

While commerce is carried on for profit and is not governed by sentiment to a great extent, it is at the same time true that, other things being equal, one prefers to deal with friends rather than with recent enemies. The entente nations and their associates will of necessity carry on some trade with Germany. They will not be averse to buy there when it is advantageous to do so, but they will not buy as a favor.

Had there been a return to pre-war conditions at the Leipzig fair it would have indicated an astonishing forgetfulness of the events of the last half dozen years. Yet the Germans seem to have expected the world to accept their goods on the old basis, regardless of the bitterness not yet allayed and in the face of other untoward conditions.

The Germans hoped to get off more easily than is the intention of the world. They are not through paying for the war.

A jay walker is a person who always wonders how it happened when he awakens in a hospital.

MEXICO'S GREAT NEED

So far as President Obregon of Mexico extends assurances that full protection will be accorded to Americans and their property in his country, our people may view more hopefully the course of relations between the United States government and the Mexican neighbor. It is also gratifying to investors that Mexico's incoming administration declares in favor of fair dealing with foreign capital for the development of that country's natural riches. These friendly indications forecast a better era than that known in preceding years, and adherence to such amicable policy is bound to benefit our sister republic.

The main consideration bearing on the future relations with the United States and the welfare of Mexico herself is what will be done to better the internal conditions of that country. The new administration has it in its power to correct the things which have been chronic trouble breeders, to remedy abuses and to abolish oppression, so there will no longer be the rebellious feeling enlisting in uprisings fomented by scheming bandits to enrich themselves.

The peon is still Mexico's unsolved problem. The impression is that, well treated, he is a faithful worker and satisfied. The trouble, it appears, is that great landholders of Mexico deny the peon the most elementary rights. This gives ground for the belief that sound and peaceful government in Mexico must establish a system of land settlement in small holdings.

BOY! PAGE MR. SOLOMON

Solomon shuffled off betimes. His reputation for wisdom is secure. In truth, he did nothing wiser than taking his departure before positively baffling problems were invented.

Had he stuck around until now we may be sure that there would be no unanimity of confidence in his judgment. We may have faith that he could solve the high cost puzzle, but what would he do about the farm which an Ohio man willed "as a permanent home for his most needy descendants?" The heirs cannot decide who is entitled to it and it may be assumed that the courts may be unable to do so.

How would you compare necessity? That is fundamental to the award that must be made in this case.

Suppose there were two claimants to the "permanent home," one possessing $15,000 and no occupation and the other having a $2000-a-year job but no accumulation of capital. Neither of them might want the farm, but if both did which would you conclude was justly entitled to it under the terms of the will?

BETROTHAL TOLD

MISS MARGARET LUSBY ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT AT AFTERNOON AFFAIR

Miss Margaret Lusby, 404 North Jackson street, assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. D. Lusby, entertained a number of friends on Friday afternoon at a social of unique interest.

Her lovely home was beautifully decorated in cut flowers, which formed the background of the color scheme, pink and white. The living room was charming with baskets of pink Loretta roses; carnations of the same color made the dining and breakfast rooms fragrant and inviting. Unusual grace marked the decorations throughout the house.

Delightful music was furnished the guests the first part of the afternoon, by Miss Alice Bolen of Los Angeles, pianist. Miss Ethel Sharpe, also of Los Angeles, was the occasion of much amusement with her humorous songs.

Tally cards, hand-painted in pink and white, were then given the guests, who enjoyed games of progressive bunco. Miss Eleanor Perry of San Gabriel, won the prize, a box of candy, for top score.

Lunch tables set with nut baskets and place cards carried out the color scheme.

The place cards proved to be the real feature of interest of the occasion, since they announced the engagement of the hostess. They were hand-painted in pink roses, and bore the verse:

"Underneath the rose,
A place for secrets,
Goodness knows!"

And "underneath the rose" were the tale-telling names:

Miss Margaret Lusby.

Mr. Harold Latter.

After this surprise, the guests were served a delightful two-course luncheon.

The guest of honor was Mrs. D. R. Salisbury, of Yonkers, N. Y., who is visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Salisbury of North Glendale. Mrs. Salisbury has been living in London for the past year, and will soon leave for Egypt, where she and her husband will be for three years, on a business trip.

Other guests were the Mesdames Mabel Merberger, Frank Parsons, Frank Weller, Clark Cristy, Seymour Smith, Harold Salisbury and C. D. Lusby, all of Glendale; Mrs. R. W. Lusby and Miss Grace Brillhart, of San Fernando; Miss Florence Hunnevell, of Beverly Hills; Miss Florence Taylor, of Covina; the Misses Alice Bolin, Ethel Sharpe, Helen Harrison, Lillian O'Connor, Millicent Grieves, and Mrs. A. A. Graves, all of Los Angeles; Miss Eleanor Perry of San Gabriel, Miss Marjorie Record of Hollywood; Miss Isabel Smith of Pasadena, and Miss Mildred Ewoldt of Long Beach; and from Glendale the Misses Juanita Emery, Martha Ray, Eunice Peart, Maude Salisbury, Doris Ingledue, Lavera Kitterman, Leone Shattuck and Muriel Turner.

Miss Lusby was charming in a lovely afternoon costume of green and white; Mrs. D. R. Salisbury wore a gown of shadow lace over pink satin.

Most of the guests of Los Angeles were Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority sisters of Miss Lusby, who is a former student of the University of Southern California. They regret to learn that she will not resume her studies there with them this year.

The marriage of Miss Lusby to Mr. Latter will occur in the spring. Mr. Latter was formerly of Glendale, but moved last year to Oakland.

Miss Lois Mock of the City Hall force is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Brooks, Miss Ainsworth, Miss Edith Wintersgill, Mrs. Brownfield and Mrs. Oliver Clark and daughter, Dorothy, spent Saturday at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cole of 107 North Orange street entertained Friday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Vanderhoff of North Jackson street, who will leave soon to make their home in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Doozee and daughter, Miss Ruth Doozee, of Redwood City, are visiting Mrs. J. B. Doozee of 360 Salem street. Miss Doozee enters Pomona College today. The Doozees motored down to Glendale and found the trip one of great pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Warren of 640 North Maryland avenue left last week for the East. They will spend several months in and about Boston and New York visiting friends and relatives. From there they will take in all the surrounding points of interest. After the New Year they plan a most interesting return trip by the way of the Panama Canal.

A. F. Stowe and wife, who recently bought H. A. Page's place at 126 Franklin Court, have moved into the property from their ranch near Santa Ana. Mr. Stowe said he spent several months in Glendale ten years ago taking care of an orange grove on Glendale avenue, just north of the Melzer place. Mr. Stowe called this morning to have his name enrolled on the Evening News subscription list.

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

Here in Glendale, in one of the loveliest and most fertile valleys of the South, in the shadow of the everlasting hills, stands the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital where the suffering find health; where the tired or depressed business man or woman comes for a "rest-vacation" and goes away refreshed and strengthened and with increased efficiency and new ambition; and where the well are taught how to keep well.

Knowing that environment plays a large part in the treatment of disease we have provided here a comfortable retreat for the ailing in a quiet, restful, optimistic atmosphere, in surroundings that are comfortable and interesting.

The value of spending a few weeks under such conditions can only be estimated by those who have been restored, who have experienced sound, refreshing sleep after nights of sleeplessness, who know the satisfaction of a good digestion, a clear head, increased energy and that sense of mental and physical buoyancy that makes life worth while—in other words those who have been restored to sound health which means the perfect functioning of every organ of the body and makes living a joy and brings efficiency, usefulness and happiness.

PRESENT BUILDING AND
SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

NEW BUILDING OF THE GLENDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL, THE FIRST UNIT OF WHICH IS NOW BEING CONSTRUCTED

This institution is founded on the principle that nature alone can cure; that health, like disease, must come gradually by a process of growth and change; that at all times the body is working to maintain health and strength and when pain or disorder appears the proper functioning of the body is being prevented. This we correct and so put the body in a position to heal itself.

Are you tired, ill or sorrowing? Would you come here for treatment or rest? Your case will be given individual attention and nature's own aids to health, air, water, light, heat, electricity and a proper diet will be used to restore you.

Our Dining Room

is open to the public. It is conducted on the European plan and is appreciated by many who like a good, wholesome, vegetarian diet.

H. S. INSTRUCTORS

NAMES OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO WILL TEACH VARIOUS BRANCHES IN G. U. H. S.

With a much larger enrollment than last year in Glendale Union High School and the additional accommodations not yet ready for classes, teaching starts off under difficulties, yet all are trying to make the best of it. One new instructor said he was used to and liked large classes but when he found himself confronted with 79 young pupils he thought that was really too much of a good thing. There are yet a few teachers to be secured but below is a list of those now enrolled, the * after a name indicating that this is the first year for the teacher in Glendale High:

Somewhat the "short and ugly word" lacks the punch it had in other days when it was used in politics.

Gorky Chides the Reds

The despots who are now ruling Russia and endeavoring to spread their destructive tenets over the rest of the world are not making everyone happy, even in Russia. Most of the Russians who are bitterly opposed to the Lenine and Trotzky regime are afraid to speak out, but occasionally a word of protest is heard.

Maxim Gorky writes in Pravda, a Moscow soviet organ, that "it is time to go to work." He points out that "everything now belongs to the people, but the destruction of these belongings increases daily. Houses are demolished and fine furniture is used as firewood. Revolutionary Socialist policy is assuredly a very beautiful thing, but we must work. We have created an atmosphere of general idleness and criminal negligence. We have never worked so ill or so dishonestly as at present. To be sure, this is in part the result of malnutrition and consequent bodily weakness but in the main it proceeds from a lack of the sense of responsibility."

How long will it take Russia to go completely to pieces, under the process of destruction and non-production?

Captive weaver birds have the weaving habit so firmly developed that they will weave fibre around their cages.

Inhabitants of Cambodia in Indo-China look on ruins of massive prehistoric architecture as works of angels or giants.

WILLIAM'S IDLE THREAT

"This is the way heads will fly to the right and left when I return to Germany."

Hewing energetically at a tree on the estate in Holland where he is passing his exile, the former kaiser made this remark, according to a report brought to Germany by one of the old school junkers and repeated by the Socialist organ Vorwaerts.

If the former kaiser made the remark the danger to Germany is no greater because of it than if he had said nothing of that nature. If William had said heads would fly "if" he returned to Germany, the plausibility would be greater. There is much more doubt about the mere "if" than the "when" in his case, as the probability is he will never go back to Germany.

The threat is more characteristic of William's flashy temper than an indication of political probabilities in Germany. Kaiserism in Germany and czarism in Russia have come to an end. One need not be a Talleyrand to grasp that. The conditions have simplified themselves too well to throw even the ordinary observer into confusion.

Wilhelm may return to Germany some time, but the odds are against the contingency. A Romanoff may be set upon a throne in Russia, but the odds against that are stronger. Whether a Hohenzollern and Romanoff are seated upon new thrones the monarchies over which they hold sway will never repeat the history of the reigns that ended during the recent war.

Bertha Van Tassell

Bertha Merritt Van Tassell, second daughter of Bertha and Alice Mary Van Tassell, was born in Glendale, June 7, 1918, and fell asleep in death also in Glendale, September 16, 1920, aged two years, three months and nine days. She was taken sick upon the camp ground at Eighty-fourth street, Los Angeles, California, and after fifteen days of much suffering fell asleep in Jesus to rest till the coming of the mighty Life-giver when she will be laid in the arms of her mother as we read in the Spirit of Prophecy. The cause of her death was cholera infantum. She was a bright, intelligent child. Was quick to learn and loved to hear the Bible stories and often asked for them. She was like a sunbeam in the home. Her little heart was full of love for everybody and she made many friends for one so young. She was a precious child and must have belonged to that class spoken of by the Saviour when He said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

She was very patient in her sufferings and never cried from pain. When we see such children we wonder why the Master Gardener plucks such tender plants from our garden. But He knows best and in due time we shall all understand the mystery.

Our darling is gone from our circle; She's hidden away from our sight. But soon we shall see and embrace her In the land of heavenly light.

We miss her sweet prattle and laughter, We weep when we think she is gone. Our hearts are nigh breaking with longing For the day of millennial dawn. For then we shall meet our dear baby, But glorified, spotless, and fair; Yes, then we shall behold her in glory When Jesus shall come in the air. O Jesus sustain and preserve us, And keep us all true to the last. And then in the joy of the present We'll forever forget what is past. R. W. Munson.

MISS CLARK HONOREE

EVENING PARTY GIVEN FOR HER BY MISS PHYLLIS BAKER

Miss Phyllis Baker entertained last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rhea Baker, in honor of her cousin, Miss Marion Clark of Kearney, Neb., who is spending the winter in Glendale. Progressive rock was played. The decorations were of dahlias, asters and coccinellids. The guest list included Misses Inez Harrison, Helen Engle, Dorothy Peart, Martha Eilers, Mildred Elliott, Hope Ireland, Margaret Frazee, Louise Hoyt, Margaret Fife, Margaret West, Maurine Baker; also Ruth and Esther Anson of Hollywood; Messrs. Frank Moody, George Stanley, Stephen Fairchild, Claire Stanley, Kenneth Wilde, Earl Hammond, Edward Smith, Ivan Taylor, Ernest Reed, Ben Robison, Alvin Brown, Joseph Maier, Lloyd Culver and Paul Edmonds; and Harold Gleason of Hollywood.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Broad St. Once a Canal

Broad street was once a canal. New York City was taken by the English in 1664, and their first map called "The Duke's Plan," after James, duke of York, the brother of King Charles II., to whom his royal brother most kindly presented the city, and who changed the name from New Amsterdam to New York in his honor, shows little change from that of 1642, according to the Merchants' association. In the year 1672 the English filled in the old canal and made the present Broad street by dragging down the red sand from the higher ground along Broadway and Wall Street.

Political Bits

A Democratic rival of Senator Harding's famous front porch has appeared. It is Governor Cox's "side porch." Between stump speeches lately, the governor has spent much of his time at the executive mansion in Columbus. When there, politicians, newspapermen and other visitors find him on his "side porch," which is enclosed in glass. It is there that he wrote most of his stump speeches. The house is the property of Ohio.

Those who think the automobile has driven the horse and buggy out of business haven't seen Doctor Harding, father of the Republican nominee, proudly driving down Mount Vernon avenue in his "rig." As a crowd was gathering at Marion for a big speech recently, Doctor Harding drove by with a huge basket of roasting ears sticking out of the rear end of the buggy.

Those newspaper reporters frequently seen moving around mysteriously in Harding's back yard are not looking for a story. They are filling their pockets with apples, plums and pears from the candidate's small back-yard orchard. Harding himself granted pasture rights to the newspaper men.

One of the main skirmishes of the Presidential campaign thus far is the "lithographic bombardment." Wherever Governor Cox is to speak, Harding enthusiasts seem to make a special effort to have the senator's pictures in prominent places, where the Democratic candidate is certain to see them. The Democrats claim that so far they have been at a disadvantage, because of a shortage of "ammunition." Comparatively few Cox pictures have been printed. On a recent trip to Wheeling, W. Va., from Columbus by motor, Harding pictures were displayed in large numbers along the road. Just before reaching Wheeling the Cox party overtook "a Republican car," which was scattering the lithographs along the way. Across from Cox's newspaper office in Dayton are eight Harding pictures, while others appear in the statehouse at Columbus, only a short distance from the governor's office, having been put up by Republicans holding state offices.

Herzog of the Chicago Cubs says Harding keeps his own batting average posted on the front porch. It is .380—the senator's street number.

Corns on a girl's feet may keep her from church, but they never keep her from going to a jazz dance.

Watch the campaign warm up as the weather gets cool.

BOOSTS GLENDALE

try, Mr. Adams said: "In my former tours whenever I mentioned Glendale, people would ask: 'Where is Glendale?' But now, Glendale, Hollywood, Long Beach and Los Angeles are familiar names to all. On account of the rapid growth of Glendale it has become known to people all over the country. When Glendale is mentioned they say: 'Oh, yes! I know where Glendale is.'"

"The rapid growth of Glendale is more noticeable to one who has been away for a few months. So many new residences have been erected in West Glendale in the three months that I was away that had it not been for my folks meeting me at the train it would have been difficult for me to have found my house."

Mr. Adams has been boosting Glendale throughout the country, and he says that it is a pleasure to him to find on his return that every day he receives new evidences justifying all his boosting. People all over the country are greatly interested in California and are making constant inquiries concerning it.

Mr. Adams will be home four weeks and then goes to Texas and Oklahoma for his winter season. The chief topics of Mr. Adams' lectures are general psychological and political subjects.

stump pullers—just about any sort of contrivance you can imagine.

One of the major displays of the show is oil. A half dozen oil companies have most interesting displays including miniature oil fields and refineries in operation. Then the lubricants are being demonstrated by mechanical devices and compared and tested to the heart's desire of the skeptical onlooker. The only thing absent in the way of oil is oil stock, but there are the usual solicitors for farm magazines and hucksters for hot dogs who make life interesting for those on amusement bent. Plenty of cold drinks are on "tap" for the thirsty, although the biggest "kick" is that of the customer who buys a "warm one" when his throat is perfectly parched for an iced elixir.

Echoes of Yesterday

The dining hall did a rushing dinner business this noon in the old dance hall, the highways and auto park are crowded with motorists—although there is plenty of room for more, and "Verdugy park"—long years since the street car conductors called that out to the baseball fans of a yesterday—rings out once more from the street cars as Tractor Show bound visitors wend their way through Glendale.

Glendale is aglow with its reception. Flags are flying from the street intersections. Many merchants have decorated their windows; Mrs. Douglas Balthis, in charge of the Tuesday Afternoon Club's housing committee work, has established headquarters and a bureau of information at the Pacific Electric station, Broadway and Brand; rest rooms have been provided at the Broadway Central building, second floor; the official reception committee holds forth at the First National Bank.

Legion Band Plays Nightly

Tonight and all other nights this week, the American Legion band will give a concert for the visitors at Brand Boulevard and Broadway. The boys have rehearsed a large repertoire and promise a most enjoyable music festival.

Then there are other attractions scheduled; special police have been employed to handle the throngs and watch the motor cars; transportation will be provided out-of-town guests from the hundreds of private homes where they will be housed to the Tractor Show and return by their application at the bureau of information.

It's a promising week, this. And Glendale will profit much from the advertising it will derive by cheerfully greeting and entertaining the thousands of visitors in the city.

4 C CLUB

OPENING ENTERTAINMENT IN CENTRAL AVE. M. E. CHURCH A SUCCESS

The first entertainment of the 4 C Club of the Central Avenue Methodist church proved very successful. The musical program started with a piano solo by Mrs. C. J. Tuttle, followed by violin solos by R. B. Baker, with Mrs. W. W. West as accompanist.

Then H. H. Fraser of Lomita Ave. gave several numbers on the bagpipes, accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Tuttle, the audience afterward singing, "Shall We Gather at the River" and "We'll Work Till Jesus Comes."

Herald S. Piper, violin; Virgil Kisser, cornet; Denver Kisser, saxophone; Miss Lucille Procter, cello and piano, of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor, South Park Christian church, Los Angeles, gave very interesting numbers on their different instruments. After each instrument was played Mr. Mitchell gave the history and origin of the same.

Mr. Mitchell is the leader of the 4 C Club and its officers are: Ruthford J. Wallace, president; Thomas Jackson, vice-president; Donald Fraubner, secretary and treasurer.

Those who helped to put the program over for the committees were: R. J. Wallace, refreshments; Mitchell, music; A. E. Hewitt, advertising. The Philathea class waited on the tables and gave the rest of their time to the decorating of the Social Hall.

After the program, ice cream, cake and candy were sold, which brought in about $20 for the church work.

The 4 C stands for Christian, Character, Culture, Club, which is a live organization which exemplifies its principal. Watch this club in the future.

Colorful New Hats

By "Marjorie"

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Although fall chapeaux have been "among those present" in the fashion world since early summer, it is the latest in-season models that are really dazzling the eyes of the populace with their bizarre, and almost weird effects. Nothing gorgeous and eccentric is out of place upon a fall feminine "lid." Hats that would feel very much "to home" upon the coifs of a Chinese coolie woman, an Algerian coffee house girl, a modern "serpent of the Nile," or an Alsatian peasant are rakishly asked the marcelled waves of Milady of Gotham.

A prevalent mode is the transparent crowned turban of metallic lace or chiffon, copiously embroidered in colored or iridescent beads. The narrow brim is generally swathed in a frayed Oriental silk, or twisted strands of wools or chenille. Color schemes are an incoherent blaze of rust and emerald cochin and aéro, or something equally contrasting.

A Nell Gwynne fashion period effect is given by hats which dangle at each side long, heavy plumes of various colors. The hat proper is cavalier shape, and generally of black or taupe velvet. But even of sombre

PRESBYTERIAN

SUNDAY MORNING SERMON ON "RIVERS THAT RUN INTO THE SEA"

* At the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, preceding the morning discourse, delivered a tremendously earnest and vigorous protest against the threatened admission of pool-rooms into our town.

The text of the sermon was from Ecclesiastes 1:7: "All the rivers run into the sea, yet the sea is not full." One cannot spend time by the sea without facing the questions concerning its age and power; its blessings, its judgments; its length, breadth, depth; its tides, waves, sands; its restlessness, beauty, attraction; its secrets and mysteries, its revelation. We read that God gathered the waters together and called them seas. "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee." "The wicked, like the troubled sea, cannot rest." Many other ways God uses the sea to illustrate His truth.

Think for a moment of the rivers of history: The old Nile, giving life to Egypt; the vast Amazon pushing its way a hundred miles and more out against the ocean; the Mississippi in its long journey to the gulf cutting in half the grandest of all republics; the Jordan, the Tiber, the Danube, the Thames. We look upon these as types of other rivers running into the sea. The River of Power flows into the sea of service. "He that believeth in Me, out of his inmost being shall flow rivers of living water." God has for us broad rivers of power.

The River of Peace flows out into the sea of tranquility. Look on the sea and it does not suggest peace; but it is only its surface that is ruffled, its depths are still. "Great peace have they that love Thy law." Do you know that peace?

The River of Purity runs out into the sea of His holiness. "Blessed are the pure in heart." In anticipation of His imminent return the true believer keeps himself pure.

The River of Joy runs out into the ocean of supreme satisfaction. O taste and see!

The River of Youth runs out into the sea of old age. What a wonderful stream is the river of youth, sparkling, musical with joyous laughter! But it moves slower with every day: soon youth is left far behind, and before we are aware of it the river empties into the sea. Give youth and your best to God.

I bring a solemn truth: The River of Time eventually shall be absorbed into the Sea of Eternity. Oh, what a word, eternity! I look out and cannot see the sea's farther shore; it is the look of faith. The lesson of the sea: just as sure as the shore under foot, just so sure, the shore on the other side. We have never seen the other side; but Jesus has been there and He has told us; and with the eyes of our faith we see it.

We do not know how much longer this river of time will continue to flow ere it is finally and forever lost in the ocean of Eternity. Some day an angel will stand with one foot upon the earth and one upon the sea and with uplifted hand declare, "Time shall be no more." Then the question will be, Where will you spend Eternity?

There is the River of Hope. The blessed hope, as an anchor to the soul, sure and steadfast. What matters it then that the merely earthly streams of our life are like rivers passing rapidly into the sea, drawing us to that moment when we shall awake in His likeness and drink forever of rivers of life which flow from the throne of God. May it be given you and me to have an abundant entrance there.

color, the sweeping plume effect is too daring for many women and only a few are seen at the Ritz teas and hotel dances. Many hats harp back to period tendencies as the quaint Watteau poke bonnet with chin ribbons, or the Alsatian bonnet with huge bow of suede or moire ribbon at the side-rear.

Another innovation is the use of stiff horsehair for trimming, rather than for the body of the hat as was formerly the case. One model made of crushed copper velvet is topped with little snail-like motifs wound from black horse-hair. Coarse, straight feathers are in the majority such as glycerined ostrich, gray quills, or cockades. Little pompoms made of hempen rope and in a bunch of several garish hues, often flank the very front of a hat, or coyly dip over the forehead.

Dingle-dangles such as long earrings of jet, jade or wooden beads still abound, especially upon the darker and more conservative hats, and tassels of silks tickle the earbuds, also. Duvelyn promises to be an all-winter fabric, although it is now dividing honors with the old standby, velvet. The latter fabric, emphasizes bead and silk trimmings, while the former specializes in wool embroideries or ribbons.

Evening hats of metallic laces or rich ribbons are favorites. The Paisley shawl pattern abounds in these ribbon hats, and brocades in rich tints of royal purple, deep rose, or emerald also abound. These confections of hat loveliness are very wide and droopy and are the only evidence that floral trimmings will be used.

VILLA AS A MAN OF PEACE

Pancho Villa, beating his sword into a plowshare and his spear into a pruning hook, presents as interesting a study as he did when brigandage was his profession.

Give the devil his dues: The former bandit is setting an example of industry and enthusiasm in the cultivation of the farm given him by the Mexican government as a reward for abandoning his warlike activities that might well be emulated by his fellow countrymen.

He is not content to scratch the ground with a stick drawn by oxen; he demands tractors and other up-to-date farm machines, and plenty of them. The Mexican government was dismayed when his requisition for the agricultural implements that it had agreed to supply him was received; for he called for hundreds of plows and cultivators and tools, besides gasoline engines and automobile trucks, harvesting machines, irrigation pumping plants and the like.

President de la Huerta has decided to humor him, apparently on the ground that expensive as the equipment is, the investment will be cheap if it will keep Pancho off the war path. Villa seems to be providing an antidote for that very spirit of brigandage which prompted his and his followers' misdeeds. His boundless energy, turned into a useful channel, may prove a blessing to Mexico.
